Here you will find laser-compatible, durable, tear-resistant, waterproof and water-resistant paper. Polyester Paper is an ideal solution for outdoor applications or for anytime your printed materials will be subjected to frequent handlings or extreme environmental conditions. Available in various weights, sizes, and colors, polyester paper is versatile enough for nearly any application, and we look forward to serving your needs both now and in the future.

While paper (coated and uncoated) is the bedrock of the printing industry, printers and designers are increasingly looking for distinctive media products that fill a void, serve a niche and generate a buzz with customers.

Indeed, there's a brand spanking new world beyond plain paper, and Polyester Paper is leading the way with a host of specialty media products that are ripe to serve the variable information, short-run, on demand, print market that has burgeoned historically few years. Optimized for digital, this 100 percent polyester media runs and pics like regular paper, but that's where the similarities finish.

Use inside or out! It's so simple.

Since Polyester Paper is water and tear resistant, it's a long lasting solution for every project, and there is no require to laminate. So from outdoor signage to wallet-size ID cards, from tremendous narrow and flexible two.7 mil up to thick and rigid 14 mil, there's a sheet for every application require.

Polyester Paper sweetens the deal with an simple print-tear-and-go method of pre-perforated Polyester Paper that lets you go straight from blank sheets to a completed product in a matter of seconds ' no post-processing necessary. Generate variable data/personalized parking passes, door hangers, bookmarks, luggage tags, ID cards and lots of other products in a flash.

New Opportunities Await

Now you can offer your customers application options that were two times the domain of large production runs: specialty dimensional applications on long lasting synthetic media. For example, say you have a customer putting together an event conference. It's now simple to send each attendee a set of personalized event luggage tags along with all their traditional program information.

Polyester Paper is making it simple to enrich common print applications with value-added accessories. For printers, that means new revenue streams; for creative designers it means distinctive application options; and for the finish recipient, it means a personalized, functional and highly long lasting product.

So think about generating some buzz along with your customers. Polyester Paper, whether pre-perforated in any of a few configurations, or in plain flat sheets in a variety of calipers, will enable you to offer some sizzling applications that are positive to get noticed ' and isn't that what everyone is striving for these days?
